- Q&A

Your industry's experts, interacting with you on your desktop

If anyone should require assistance during the conference, please press “*” (star) then “0” (zero) on your touch-tone telephone. As a reminder, this conference call is being recorded. Later we will conduct a Question & Answer session and instructions will follow at that time. If you are a Premium Access participant (on the phone), please queue your question by hitting #1 on your telephone keypad any time throughout the presentation. If you are listening by streaming audio with Basic Access, please feel free to send text questions in through the Q&A chat at the bottom-left of your screen—the earlier you send your question, the better chance it will be answered. Your questions will be queued for the end, when questions will be taken over the phone and through the Q&A chat function.

Premium Front Row Seat participants will be e-mailed access to the archive after the meeting. Basic Access participants can purchase the archive after the event. Please email info@xtalks.com.

Today's event is sponsored by Buck Consultants

Buck Consultants, an ACS Company, is a global provider of human resource consulting services that enable our clients to benefit from time and cost savings, access leading-edge technology, mitigate risk, and share the knowledge of subject matter experts. We support our clients' non-core business functions, so that they can focus on their core businesses. In Canada, we are known in the marketplace as ACS HR Solutions. Combined with our parent, ACS, Inc., a Fortune 500 company, we deliver comprehensive solutions to meet our clients' business needs.
